OVERVIEW

MOTORSPORTDAYS LIVE TRACK TIME DELIVERS SUCCESS

Opened by ex-Formula 1 racer Karun Chandhok, MotorsportDays LIVE upped the pace on its rivals by offering an impressive range of cars to try on track, from a Mini7 Miglia to a Radical RX Spyder.

With over 2,000 industry professionals through the door and more than 1,000 drivers signed on to experience time on track at the first MotorsportDays LIVE event at Silverstone on 2 - 3 November 2018, we at BWR Media certainly exceeded our expectations.

Such was the importance of this show to the motorsport industry that we saw a number of product, manufacturer and championship launches at the event such as Phil Abbott's impressive Revolution racecar on the opening day. Ligier, in association with United Autosports, unveiled its JS2-R over the weekend as well as its latest prototype-racing car, the Ligier JS P4. Motordrive offering its first glimpse of its 6-point mounted seat, the FIA-approved MD20 and Series Elite introduced the Jaguar Project 8 SVO race series to the MotorsportDays LIVE audience.

As a passionate and competitive motorsport racer, it always amazed me that there was such a massive disconnect between the exhibitors and any time on track at major motorsport shows. Action on the track is the lifeblood of our sport and should be central to any motorsport event - be it a race meeting or a trade show.

By filtering out the fan element, MotorsportDays LIVE focuses solely on a professionally engaged audience, consisting of amateur and professional drivers, championship co-ordinators, engineers, genuine track day enthusiasts, motorsport investors and performance car buyers. To then include a unique opportunity to sample vehicles and products LIVE on the track means that this show can offer a previously unseen level of engagement for both exhibitors and visitors.

This "try before you buy" option for a wide array of race championships and race teams not only increased driver sign-up and involvement in championships and independent race teams for the 2019 season earlier than ever before but also enhanced sales and business opportunities for a number of suppliers who exhibited at the 2018 launch event.

An extensive conference programme, ranging from getting into motorsport to sponsorship, racing driver fitness to sports psychology, ensured a comprehensive package for all those visiting the Silverstone Wing complex. With ITV's Louise Goodman running her popular media workshop over the two days too, drivers could head home with all the ammunition needed to take that winning next step.

With such incredible stats from our launch show, it clearly demonstrates that there was a real need for a motorsport event at a motorsport venue that combines on track time with exhibition halls. Cars, the lifeblood of our sport, should always be up front and centre in any motorsport event and I believe that we have achieved that with MotorsportDay LIVE.

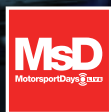

MotorsportDays LIVE will return to the home of British Motorsport, on 1-2 November 2019. This annual show is an unmissable opportunity for you to capitalise on the thinking and planning period between the end of one season and the start of a new one.

am Leopard Racing finish top of the podium after Vernay holds off rivals' challenges, giving Volkswagen back-to-back championships

Jean-Karl Vernay secured his TCR title by winning the TCR International Series. Driving for the Leopard Racing team, Vernay needed just one place finish at the final weekend of the season at the Dubai Autodrome to win the challenge of the season. With a last-lap finish, Vernay secured his first TCR title. This was the first time for Vernay in his racing career. Vernay also secured a second title, the TCR International Series, by winning the championship. Vernay's success was a testament to his skill and determination. He has been a consistent performer in the TCR series, and his victory in the International Series was a significant achievement. BEN WHIBLEY

SHOW DIRECTOR, FOUNDER

I was lucky enough to compete in motorsport from an early age, allowing me to see the sport first-hand, from grass-roots all the way to the top. I eventually went on to win various championships across Europe. With the winning ethos firmly embedded, my career over the last 12 years has been in the fast-paced world of the publishing and events industry, organising some of the largest trade shows across Europe, the Middle East, Asia and the Americas. In recent years I have personally launched, from the ground up, eight highly successful international events within various sectors.

My aim now is to continue to deliver a new European trade event for this spectacular industry, one that not only offers fantastic value exhibiting opportunities but delivers a guaranteed ROI at the home of British motorsport and beyond.

We at BWR media have now created an event that caters to all needs, whilst remaining affordable for any exhibitor. MsDLIVE allows a new dimension for product showcasing; for once brands have the added benefit of allowing a potential buyer to test LIVE on track and in a racing environment.

I am so proud to be part of this initiative, which brings a whole new angle to the motorsport trade show and will help shape the direction and future of this incredible industry.

If we don't have people joining and having access to affordable motorsport we will never have a long-term sustainable sport. That's why MotorsportDays LIVE is so important to me, by being able to transfer people from track days, from karting and even corporate events and getting them into motorsport by giving them a taster, to feel what it's like, this then encourages more people to potentially get a race licence and actually compete. Most people just want to have fun and our purpose, the purpose of Motorsport UK is to make sure as many people get into motorsport as possible and enjoy it.
